

Blenko Art Glass - Est. 1921

Vintage Blenko blown glass giants. The green decanter once had a stopper. Giant decanters without the stoppers can be used as floor vases. The "Blenko Blue" flat collar bottle is a floor vase

Blenko began glass production in 1921 West Virginia, USA. Specializing in handmade art glass and household glass from the opening of the factory to this very day. Blenko is a favorite among collectors of old and new glass.

Blenko's mid-20th Century glass reflects the ultra mod of yesteryear's décor styles. Its art glass is hand blown and or hand tooled, very colorful and large in size. Blenko glass is almost always heavy. Blenko colors are vivid. The characteristic glass usually has some bubbles and lines, and sometimes small inclusions from the furnace.

Blenko specialized in giant forms of art glass. Most giant Blenko items were made in the past, but a couple styles of giant decanters are available new. Giants measure from 20 inches to 3 feet tall. Blenko also produced miniatures of the giants, but their miniatures are larger than most. Collectors crave the Blenko Giants. Vintage giants are hard to find today due to the low survival rate of these immense glass creations.

Blenko Art Glass was great then...and now.
